We the Class of '71, having looked upward and seen a star and having resolved to reach for that star . . .

We broke loose, children of freedom!
to be!
Not to just look!
but to see!
Not to just hear,
but to listen!
to touch, to feel.
We take off the blinders of society.
We take out the ear plugs,
remove the gloves.
We become aware,
We live!

Perhaps we are establishing a pattern of placing our goals beyond our known capacities . . . in an effort to accomplish, to create, to alter, but most of all to further our own belief . . . that all things are possible if we, while giving our best, continue looking upward.

As Juniors we search for a future, a life, but it is not to be found – yet. It is our way of searching for truth, for values, for a purpose.

We step forth as Seniors next year to try new experiences and let the problems that may arise teach us to be stronger and more independent young adults on the campus of W.H.S.

We learn to live our lives, above all things. We try to not just simply exist.

As freshmen, we came to Western High School, unaware of what we should expect of high school life. But as Sophomores, we have found it is a place for sharing new experiences and ideas with many new people.

We are now really a part of W.H.S. and participate in many of its extra-curricular activities. We participate in sports and are members of the various clubs.

As our Sophomore year comes to a close, we look with anticipation toward the next two years as the class of '73 strives to be one of distinction.

We're the "younger generation" of W.H.S. We came with mixed feelings–surprise, hope, and maybe even a little fear. In time these feelings were replaced by pride and school spirit.

Our hope is that during our Sophomore year, we may become a more meaningful part of W.H.S.

EDITORS' NOTE

It has been our main objective this year to present for you a yearbook that truly represents the spirit of the individuals of Western High School — of individuals who are unafraid to see the unknown — of individuals who stand firmly for what they believe — of individuals who are understanding, who appreciate the innocence of a smile — and of individuals who cherish the hope that peace and love will prove to be the only answer for tomorrows' world.

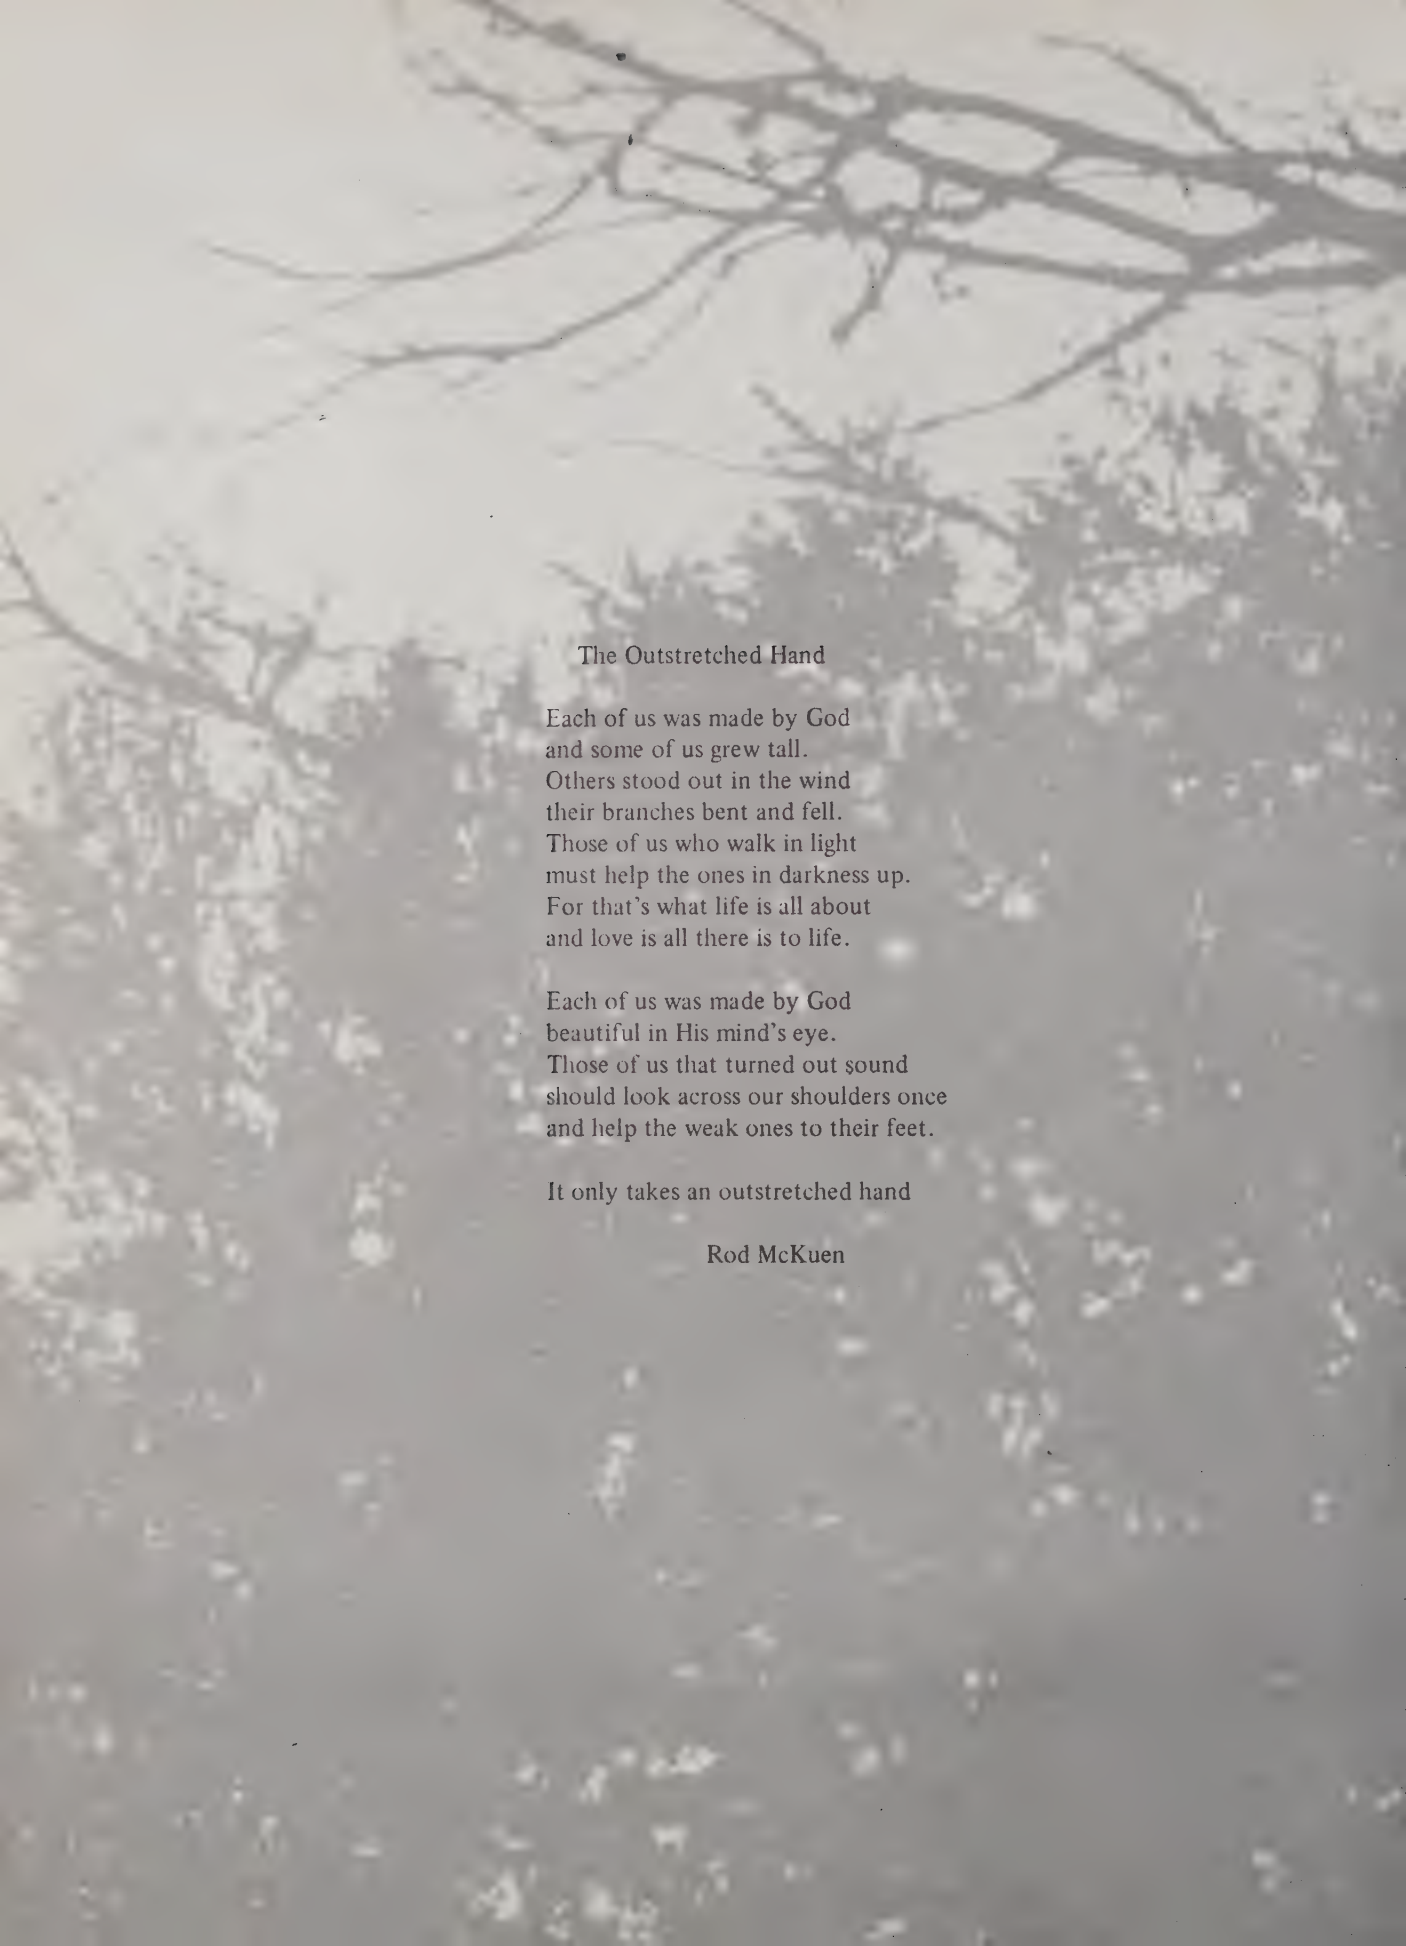
It is our hope that when you recall this year and this book, that you'll not only remember the trivial things that once seemed so important; but that you will recall the important events that have molded your life and made you the person you are.

For learning is a life-long process, and it is our feeling that youth is the most impressionable stage — the most lasting and life building one. And as we press through the separate engulfing world around us, we think you will find that the experiences, the ideas, the morals, and the attitudes that you have cultivated at this school will have a great bearing on the steps you will make in the future. For learning is not only instilled in us through books, but through the experiences of love, of disappointment, of courage, of failure, of accomplishment, of companionship, and of truth and honesty that we encounter every day we live.

This was our goal — to present the spirit of an individual and his importance in creating a reflection of this year.

To some it is a final year — one of no return; but many will find their way back to its halls (some only in memories) and others there to dwell once again in its buildings to add again his part as an Individual of WHS.

Thank you,
susan and harold



The Outstretched Hand

Each of us was made by God
and some of us grew tall.
Others stood out in the wind
their branches bent and fell.
Those of us who walk in light
must help the ones in darkness up.
For that's what life is all about and love is all there is to life.

Each of us was made by God
beautiful in His mind's eye.
Those of us that turned out sound should look across our shoulders once and help the weak ones to their feet.

It only takes an outstretched hand

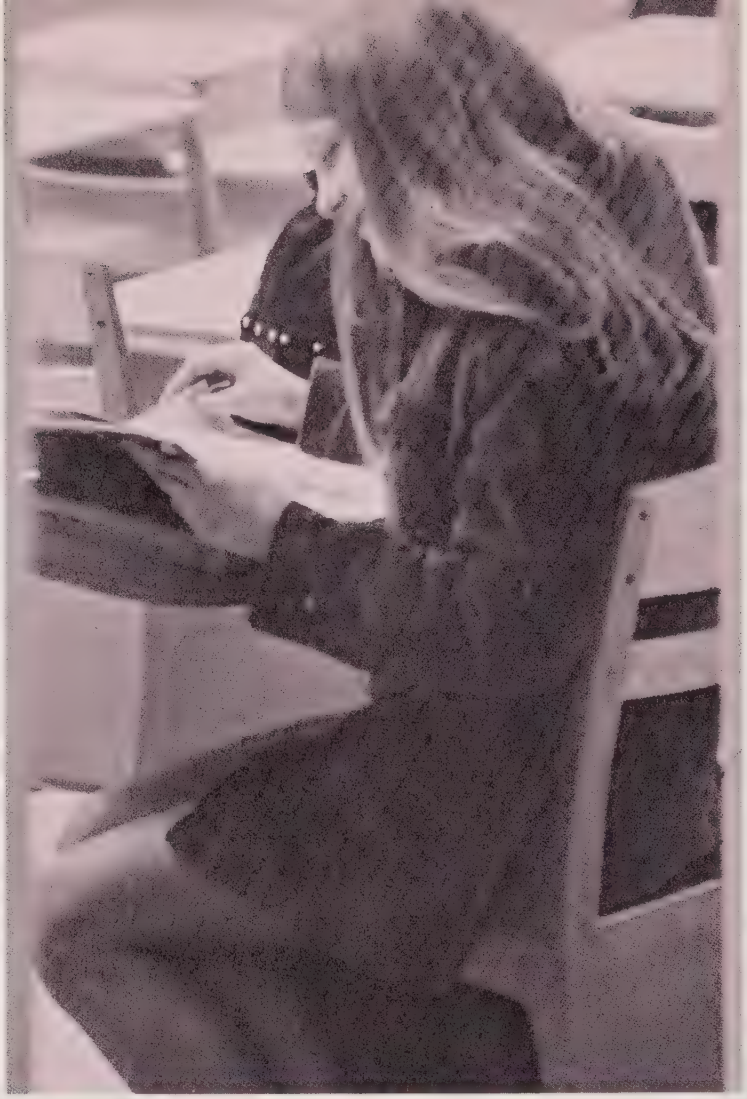
Mrs. Barbara Roark

In appreciation of two individuals who have given enumerable service to the We-Hi-Wa Staff and to Western High School, we recognize Mrs. Barbara Roark, and Mr. Gordon Plumblee. Without their back-breaking attempts and timeless efforts, this annual would not have been possible.

One can not really begin to realize the spectacular sacrifices they must have made to help us along the way . . . so willing to lend a helping hand.

It is our wish that these two pages stand as a monument of service to these two people for we honestly appreciate their exceptional efforts in promoting the understanding and goodwill at Western High School.

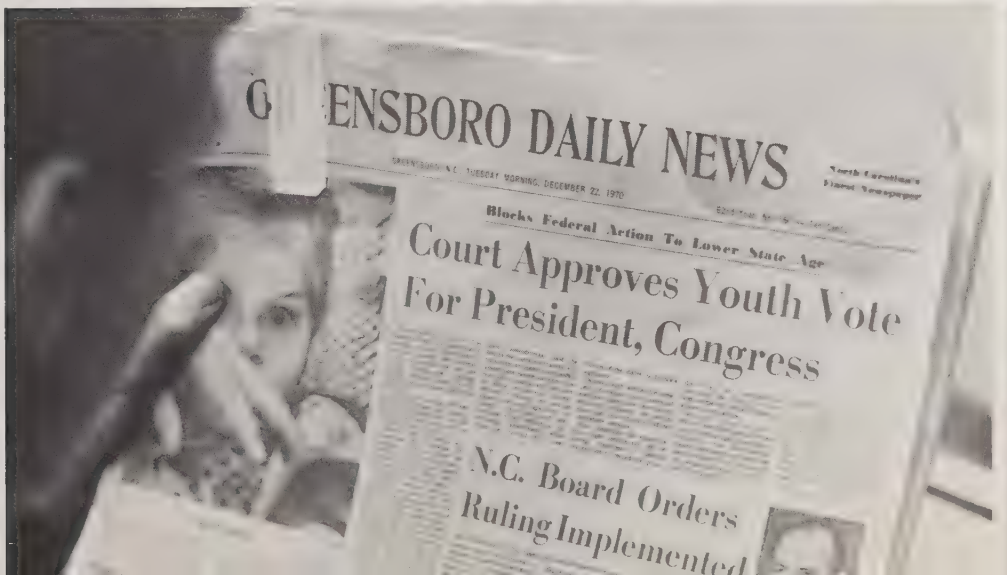
Mr. Gordon Plumblee



I look up . . . to find myself in the mainstream of life . . . I flow hand in hand with others . . . being . . . creating . . . enjoying . . . together . . . sharing our Saturday smiles . . . and yet in the end . . . when the Saturdays are over and my friends have left my side . . . I stand unafraid . . . and realize those experiences have made me a better person . . . and somehow I learn what life is all about.

So many questions . . . so many answers to find . . . sometimes there is only desperation at the things that seem hopeless . . .

frustration at the problems that seem unending . . .
confusion at the things that aren't what they seem.
—Pendulum

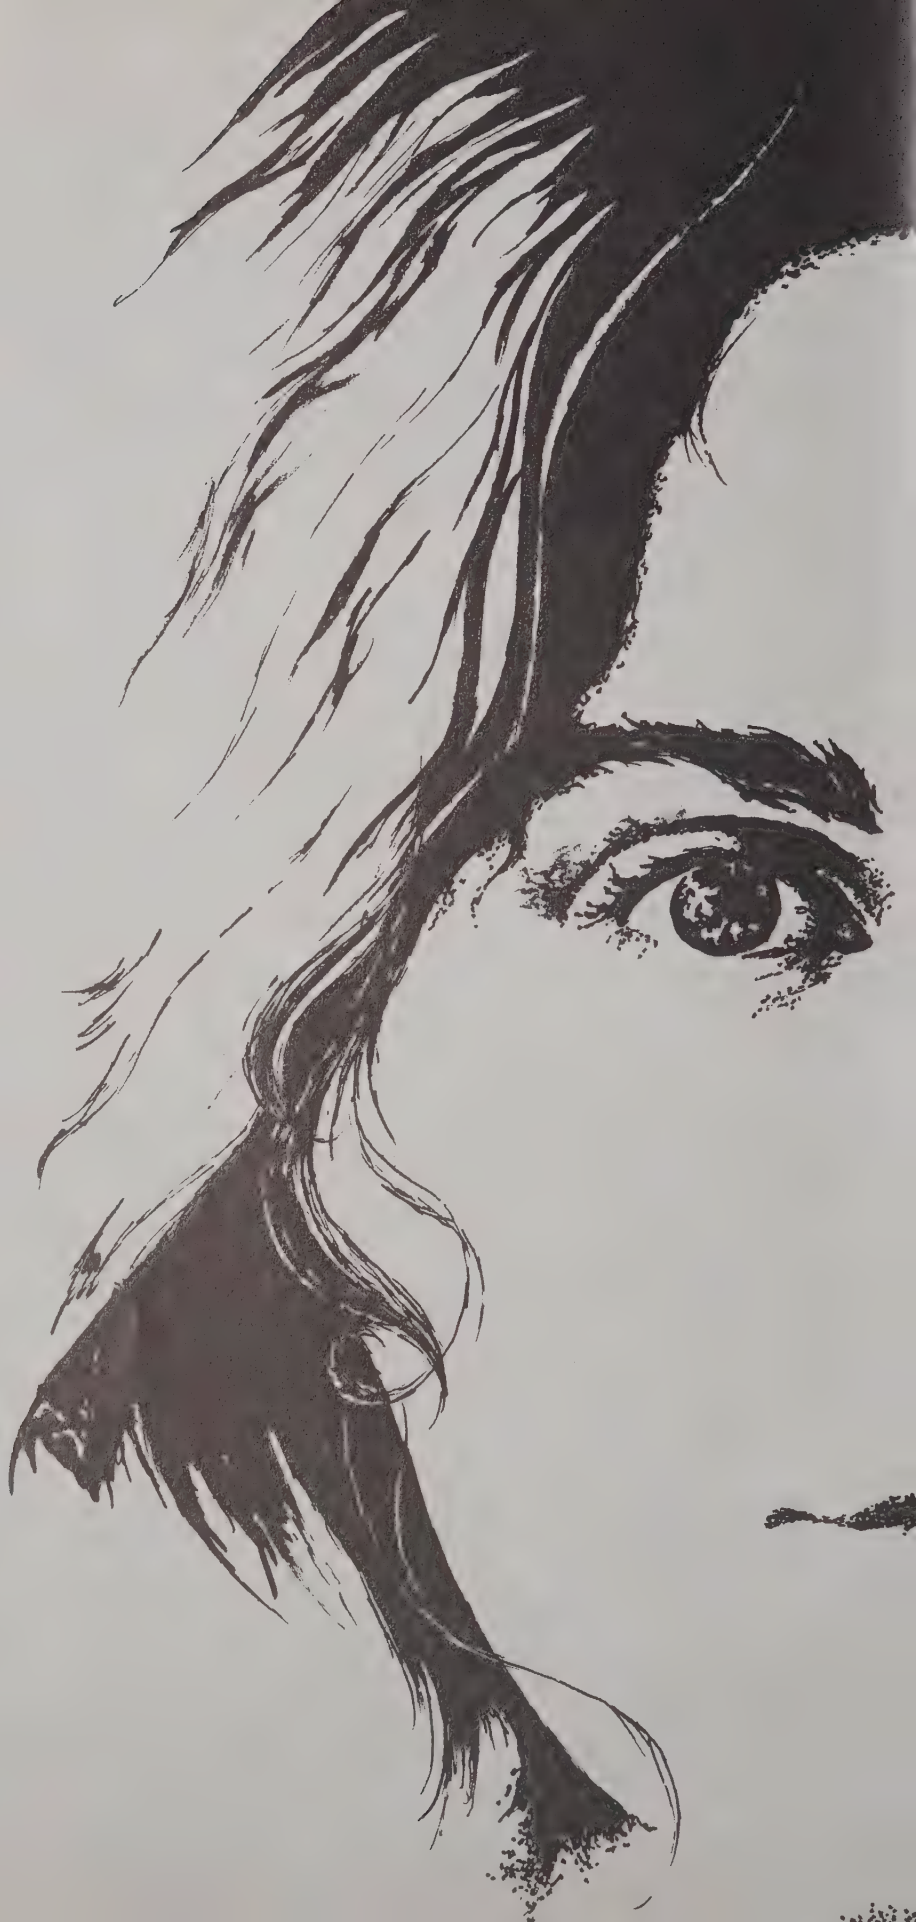


We stand together . . . mute . . . what can be said . . . your hand touches mine and the air is alive with promise . . .

– author unknown

We are filled with hope . . . a hope that we may make the world a better place to live . . . our hopes are endless dreams . . . and we find ourselves praying that those dreams may some day become reality.

Questions . . . questions . . . so many thoughts running through my mind . . . where am I? . . . who am I? . . . what am I? . . . why am I what I am? . . . I ponder profusely over discovering "who I am" and "what my purpose is in life". I have no answers for it all, and still I find many areas within myself that are unexplored. So I lie awake nights, searching for a reason to live . . . and wondering which is the best road to take. I dream . . . far, enhancing dreams . . . I can almost touch them and yet they are so far away . . . I almost see my picture of happiness and feel the warmth of others so close to my side . . . but can it be real? I awaken to find it all a mystery, and I am the center of it all. Suddenly a new dawn breaks and I am whirled back into the mainstream of life . . . reluctant to be me . . . but I creep to make my stand. With every new day life brings many new experiences and I find that these make me realize how important I can be . . . challenges suddenly seem to make me stronger . . . and I find that many of my problems are others' problems . . . and that I don't stand alone . . .



For once I can know what it is to reach out . . . to grasp the unknown . . . to share the love that life grants me moment by moment . . . so I stand . . . an individual . . . strong . . . proud . . . and propelled to move on . . . the wind beats hard against my face . . . but I'm no longer afraid . . . because I've found myself . . . an Individual Unafraid To Be . . .

Patricia,

What can I say? We've been friends for how many years? 3? 4? All I can say is that it has been great, and I hope we'll stay friends forever. We've had a lot of good times. I don't think either of us will forget Bristol, will we? That was an important and meaningful event in all of our lives.

Stay as sweet and cute as you are now, and you'll go along way in life.

Best of luck to you and Lawrence.
